Upon arrival, the Deputy found the individual laying on the rear porch of the bar. Per the bar tender, the person was still upright when he left. He also said they'd locked the back door to keep him out. Upon further investigation, the only matching story was that when being pushed out, the person had fallen backward hitting his head on the porch. Big Sky Fire Dept was requested and eventually transported the individual to the Big Sky Medical Center for further care.
